

Biographies of Gender Experts contributing to the genSET Capacity Building Workshop:
Gender Stereotypes and Gendered Attitudes in the Assessment of Women's Work.
Location: Democritus 153 10 Agia Paraskevi Attica, Athens, Greece

Gerd Karin Bjørhovde, dr.philos., is a professor of English literature in the Faculty of Humanities at the University of Tromsø, Norway. In her research Bjørhovde has worked extensively with feminist perspectives on literature and women writers, particularly women's pioneering contributions to and experiments with the novel form. She has also been active in various gender equality and research committees both nationally and internationally, and has spent lengthy research periods in Britain, the U.S. and Canada. In 1999 she was Convenor of the 7th International Interdisciplinary Congress on Women - Women's Worlds '99, which took place in Tromsø. From 2001 through 2008 Bjørhovde was pro-rector of the University of Tromsø, focusing in that period among other things on internationalization of education and research, and on promoting gender mainstreaming in her own institution as well as nationally. In 2007 she was appointed Chair of the Committee for Mainstreaming - Gender in Science Norway (from 2010 the Committee for Gender Balance in Research), by the Minister of Education.

Rosella Palomba is a social demographer, director of research at CNR and associate. Her main fields of research are: the impact of policies on gender equity; gender statistics and indicators; women and science. Rosella has coordinated a number of national and international projects and was member of numerous EU expert groups on women in science. She was member of the ETAN Report working group, Italian EU Ambassador for equal opportunities in science, member of the Gender and Excellence EU experts' group. Rosella chairs in many national and international research committees. She has written more than 180 articles, books and research reports on social policies and gender.